Defined Districts.—So much of the North and South Dublin Unions as is comprised within the Dublin Metropolitan Police District (except the Metropolitan Market), and also a small part of the Royal Irish Constabulary District in North Dublin Union, havs been scheduled by Ordsr in Council as "Dsfined Districts."

These districts include the dairy-yards and cow-sheds of the city and its environs.

Restrictions on Cattle in Defined Districts.—Cattle in these districts are not allowed—

(1.) To be exportsd to Great Britain.

(2.) To be exposed for sale in tbe Metropolitan Market, on the ordinary market day, when cattle from oountry districts in Ireland are exposed therein.

Branding.—The cattle in ths defined districts are required to be branded on the right hörn and tho right fore-hoof with the marks—

N ⋀ in the Northern district.

S ⋀ in the Soutbern district.

The Police and tbe Inspectors of the Veterinary Department see that these requirements are carried out.

Sale and Movement.—Fat eattle in the Defined Districts may be exposed in the Market on a differsnt day from the ordinary market day and sold for slaughter. Cattle may be moved from the Defined Districts for feeding or breeding purposes, witb a licence granted on a veterinary csrtificate of health. No further movement can take place without anotber licsnce, which cannot be granted excspt with the consent of the Lord Lieutenant; and every addition to or diminntion of ths stock must be reported by the owners to the Police.

In order to prevent owners putting cattle with the cattle moved from the dsfined districts, it is provided that any cattle grazing with or in contact with cattle from those districts shall be treated in the same way; i.e., branded on horn and boof, and snbject to thc same restrictions as to movement, &c.

Metropolitan Market.—Animals brought from rural districts which are free from disease are alone allowed to bs exposed in the Metropolitan Market on the ordinary market day.

Such animals can only be rested in specially lieensed lairs which are frequently inspected, aud are subject to stringent regulations as to cleansing and disinfection, &c.

Cattle brought to North Wall direct for Shipment.—Tbe above restrictions do not apply to cattle from healthy rural districts which are brought direct by rail to the North Wall for shipment, as such cattle cannot come in contact with the defined districts' cattle.

Inspection of Dairy yards.—All the cattle in tbe dairy yards and cowsheds in the districts are regularly examined by a staff of Inspectors specially employed by tbe Veterinary Department for that purpose.

Slaughter.—Whsn an outbreak of disease occurs, tbe cattle visibly diseased are slaughtsred by order of the Inspector of the Local Anthority, and all the cattle in contact with such are slaughtered under the supervision of the Inspectors of the Veterinary Department, who also ses that the premises are offectually cleansed and disinfected.

Special Local Regulations.—Local Autborities in Ireland are also empowered to make regulatious prohibiting the movement of cattle into their districts from other districts, and the Local Autborities of the Unions adjoining tbose of North and Soutb Dublin have made regulations restricting tho admission of Dublin Dairy Cattle into thsir districts.

Portal Inspection.—No animal can be exported from any port in Ireland without being inspected by a Government Veterinary Inspector, and certified to be froe from disease.

II.—CIRCULAR AS TO RABIES.

Veterinary Department, Privy Council Office,

No. 3781/1889. Dublin Castle, 22nd August, 1889.

REGULATIONS FOR RABIES.

SIR,—I am directed by the Lord Lieutenant to request that you will be so good as to acquaint your Local Authority that His Excellency is advised that in making regulations directing the muzzling of dogs on account of Rabies, it would be desirable for the Local Authority to insist on the muzzling of all dogs (other than dogs while being used for sporting purposes, or for the capture and destruction of vermin, and in charge of competent persons,) whilst being in any public place, whether the dogs are led or not, with a muzzle so constructed as to render it impossible for the dog while wearing the same to bite any person or animal. Any alternative regulation which permits a leading strap or chain to be substituted for the muzzle does not afford sufficient security, it being clear that a led dog (if he is unmuzzled) is able to bite any person or animal that may happen to pass within his reach; and this objection applies even more strongly to an alternative regulation which permits dogs to be in a public place under what is called control.

It would probably be useful if at the foot of hand bills or notices announcing regulations, the following short description of the most marked symptoms of Rabies were given :—

"SYMPTOMS OF RABIES IN DOGS."

"Change of habits, restlessness, moving from place to place, often hiding in dark secluded corners, depraved appetite, gnawing and eating indigestible substances, altered voice, difficulty of swallowing but showing no dread of water, thick viscid saliva hanging from the corners of the mouth which the dog tries to remove with his paws, frequently snapping at the air or imaginary objects. These symptoms in the furious form of the disease are followed by paroxysms of excitement, in which there is an irresistible tendency to bite and attack other animals, especially dogs; the animal then wanders from his home, biting and snapping at every animal that may come in his way; emaciation and exhaustion rapidly follow with loss of nervous power, partial paralysis often supervenes and the animal drops and dies, if it has not previously been destroyed."

"In the dumb or torpid form of disease the premonitory symptoms are followed by dropping or paralysis of the lower jaw rendering the animal unable to bite or bark, the tongue swollen and livid hangs out of the mouth, the dog in this condition seldom leaves his home but endeavours to remain quiet in some dark place, takes little or no notice of what goes on around him, paralysis of the hind limbs soon sets in and death quickly follows."

I am, Sir, your obedient Servant,

W. S. B. KAYE.

The Clerk of each Union.
